Abstract (Basic): WO 9621212 A

A personal computer (20) is used with a printer (26) and a choice of peripherals including a facsimile copier (25), a paper document scanner (24), a modem (23) and a telephone set (27).

The teacher can send, receive or exchange information with participants and databases connected to the system; establish or modify a personalised work scheme for each student; communicate this scheme to the student and follow its progress; and repeat these operations as often as necessary until the teaching objective is achieved.

ADVANTAGE - Privacy of teacher is respected but can be suspended when necessary for dialogue over network of other teachers e.g to research experiment, or for consultation with authors of teaching materials.
